Flo

The creation of Felicia Leoncelli, a former senior artist with The Australian Ballet and mother of two beautiful children, Flo was founded in 2008. An innovative children's fashion label, it takes Felicia's passion for dance and combines it with the comfort and flexibility essential for children's clothing. Using only breathable, washable fabrics, the Flo line consists of dance-inspired fashion pieces that are perfect for play. There are styles ideal for the little performer as well as gorgeous party dresses and casual wear.

Go with the Flo

Flo Dancewear is the creation of Felicia Leoncelli, a former senior artist with The Australian Ballet and now a mother of two children. Combining fashion, function and form, Flo garments are designed so that children can feel free in their clothes, whether playing, dancing or resting. The cable-knit cross-over cardigan (pictured, $45) is available for two to 12-year-olds and in both pink and charcoal colours.

A young girl with brown hair in pigtails is smiling and eating an ice cream cone. She is wearing a light pink long-sleeved top and a white apron with a colorful pattern of kitchen items like teapots, kettles, and whisks in shades of red, teal, and pink. She is also wearing pink leggings and pink fuzzy boots. In the background, there is a white table with a large bouquet of colorful flowers and a colorful patterned object hanging on the wall.
